

Biography

Jarrold William Kile RPh., BCPS is currently the Clinical Pharmacy Specialist in Infectious Disease and Antimicrobial Stewardship at Lehigh Valley Health Network (LVHN) in Allentown, PA. He resides at the LVHN Infectious Disease practice of twelve physicians and four physician assistants. Jarrod graduated with his RPh. in 1998 from Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science and began his career at LVHN. Jarrod has had a diverse background in general pharmacy, emergency medicine and critical care until being promoted to the Clinical Pharmacy Specialist for Infectious Disease in 2008. Over the past 5 years, Jarrod has reviewed manuscripts for the Journal of Antimicrobial Chemotherapy and has presented multiple continued education sessions for pharmacists and other healthcare professions in the realm of Infectious Disease. He earned his APhA Certification in Pharmacy-based Immunization Delivery in 2008 and his Board Certified Pharmacotherapy Specialist in Pharmacotherapy in 2011. Jarrod is a student pharmacy preceptor for multiple universities, pharmacy resident preceptor and a clinical faculty member at Desales University. Jarrod was awarded the LVHN Friends of Nursing award and the LVHN Teaching Leadership award in 2008 and 2010, respectfully. He was honored to be part of the Board of Pharmacy Specialties taskforce for the development of an Infectious Disease Specialty exam. Recently, Jarrod presented at the Healthcare Supply Chain Association(HSCA) forum in Scottsdale, Arizona with a strong emphasis on current and future laboratory and microbiology testing systems. Jarrod has been a member of Society of Infectious Diseases Pharmacists since 2008 and this would be his first role as a board member in the society.

Campaign Statement

It is a privilege and honor to be nominated for the position of SIDP Board Member – at Large. SIDP has become an integral part of educating on antimicrobial resistance, research and providing valuable input to regulatory and decision making committees. I believe in the current goals of the society and would be honored to help promote and invest in the society's future endeavors.