Society of Infectious Diseases Pharmacists
Outstanding Early Career Clinician Award 2024

The Society of Infectious Diseases Pharmacists (SIDP) is pleased to solicit nominations for the Outstanding Early Career Clinician Award. The purpose of this award is to recognize an SIDP member who has developed an innovative and/or excellent clinical practice site. Areas of contribution to infectious diseases pharmacotherapy may include, but are not limited to, development of innovative services, documentation of benefits, and methods of promoting the safe, effective, and rational use of anti-infective agents.

The “Outstanding Early Career Clinician Award” is awarded to a pharmacist with exemplary skills as a practitioner and educator and a demonstrated expertise in infectious diseases pharmacy practice, as demonstrated by:

- (a) maintenance of an active patient-care service responsibility including but not limited to inpatient rounding, ambulatory care clinic (e.g., HIV, hepatitis, PrEP, OPAT), stewardship (inpatient, outpatient, system wide) and telemedicine
- (b) outstanding capabilities as a practitioner and educator/mentor AND
- (c) significant contributor to the development or improvement of infectious diseases pharmacotherapy

The awardee serves as a role model in Infectious Diseases Pharmacotherapy and maintains ongoing responsibility and accountability for the provision of pharmaceutical care in infectious diseases pharmacotherapy. This person should also be an active participant in professional infectious diseases and pharmacy associations appropriate to his or her area of practice.

This award provides a plaque to the recipient, who may be asked to give a brief presentation at the SIDP Business Meeting and Reception at IDWeek™ 2024.

Nominations will be accepted for any full or associate SIDP member, including yourself (which is encouraged), who is within 7 years of receipt of his/her terminal education (i.e., post-residency or fellowship). With your nomination, include a written description of what the candidate has done and why he or she is being nominated.

Nominations and supporting materials should consist of:

- a) Letter of nomination by an SIDP member or colleague, which includes a brief description of the nominee’s clinical practice.
- b) Two solicited letters of recommendation from co-workers: 1) one letter from a non-pharmacist, and 2) a second letter from a person (excluding the nominator) who can comment on the qualifications of the nominee.
- c) The nominee’s curriculum vitae
- d) An outline of the nominee’s function and accomplishments as a clinical pharmacy specialist in infectious diseases pharmacotherapy. Key elements to include in the description of clinical activities include: an outline of the clinical services provided; the impact of the clinician on anti-infective usage, patient care processes, or outcomes; and the educational role of the practitioner in the institution. Only activities and accomplishments post-training will be evaluated by the committee.
- e) A letter from the nominee stating his/her willingness to 1) accept the nomination (if nominated by a colleague), and 2) be present to accept the award at the SIDP Business Meeting and Reception at IDWeek™ 2024.
